

Spanish renewables company Acciona Energia (BME:ANE) has entered into a memorandum of understanding (MoU) with energy entities owned by the government of Aruba to collaborate on the development of a Green Hydrogen Valley on the island.

Elmar, the island's utility company, placed a cap--10 kW for residential and 100 kW for commercial installations--to manage growth without overloading the grid. However, the adoption of solar energy in Aruba has been slower than anticipated, and regulatory delays limit the island's green energy potential.
